Introduction

The PSIS Data Dictionary (PSIS DD) provides a detailed description of each variable included in, or derived from the PSIS files. These descriptions comprise the name, acronym, definition, extract type, and code set of each variable.

The PSIS DD has been created to assist users and researchers in identifying the type of information that is available from PSIS database. Primarily, it assists them in identifying the type of information that is available from the PSIS database, to define or select the desired variables as well as to manipulate and correctly interpret their data.

This document is divided into seven (7) sections. The first section (this Introduction) provides general information about the PSIS DD, an essential tool for data processing, data manipulation and data certification. Section 2 (Confidentiality) contains information on the confidentiality measures taken to protect individual student data. Section 3 (PSIS Overview) provides a brief overview of PSIS including a description of the PSIS survey, the PSIS file (extract) structure and outlines the contents of the five (5) PSIS extracts. Section 4 (Geography) identifies the geographic levels available for PSIS data. Section 5 (Field of Study) describes the new coding structure used for field of study - Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP). Section 6 (PSIS Variable Definitions) contains the variable descriptions, the specific extracts comprising the variables, the data type and length, as well as code sets. Lastly, Section 7 (Generic PSIS Code Sets) provides detailed content of code sets used in many variables such as country codes and PSIS institution codes.

For additional detailed documentation on PSIS, users can also:

- Consult the PSIS Web site at www.statcan.ca/english/concepts/PSIS/index.htm;
- Contact Client Services at 1-800-307-3382 or e-mail to educationstats@statcan.ca; or
- Contact the PSIS HelpLine at 1-613-951-1666 or e-mail to esis-siae_contact@statcan.ca.

Section 2

Confidentiality

The PSIS database resides within Statistics Canada's facilities in Ottawa. It can only be accessed by authorized staff from the Centre for Education Statistics (CES). Users must provide their data requirements to authorized personnel who, in turn, will carry out the retrievals. Data requests should be sent to Client Services at educationstats@statcan.ca. Only aggregate data conforming to the confidentiality provisions of the Statistics Act will be released outside of Statistics Canada. Additional information on confidentiality can be obtained from the PSIS Web site at <http://www.statcan.ca/english/concepts/PSIS/privacy.htm>.

Section 3

PSIS Overview

3.1 PSIS Survey

PSIS annually collects administrative data from all public Canadian universities and colleges (and not from the individual student).

Implemented in the year 2000, PSIS has begun to replace the three postsecondary enrolment and graduate surveys with a single survey. For the 2001-2002 collection years, PSIS covered 80% of public institutions. Upon full implementation, PSIS will capture annually, enrolment and graduate information from all Canadian public postsecondary institutions.

PSIS collects information pertaining to the programs and courses offered at an institution, as well as information regarding the students themselves and the program(s) and courses in which they were registered, or from which they have graduated. PSIS is also designed to collect continuing education data. This information is available from the PSIS Cross-sectional Files.

In addition, PSIS has been designed to provide longitudinal data. It creates a unique longitudinal record for each postsecondary student in Canada which will, in turn, provide a history of flows taken by a student as he/she progresses through the education system. Upon commitment from all postsecondary education institutions, PSIS will become a means of following students throughout their academic careers in order to build a comprehensive picture of student flows - that is, their mobility and pathways within Canadian postsecondary education institutions. Mobility refers to geographic movement. Pathways refer to movement among fields of study, levels of education, and registration status (full-time and part-time). This information will be available from the PSIS Longitudinal Files.

The PSIS reporting period covers the academic year starting on the day after the end of the previous year's winter session, and ends on the last day of the current winter session.

Validated electronic administrative data files are returned annually to Statistics Canada on July 15th by the institutions. Subsequently, the additional data validation, standardization and imputation tasks are performed by Statistics Canada. Prior to publication, the final data is returned to the institution(s) for final data certification.

Based on PSIS data, Statistics Canada publishes information on enrolments and graduates of Canadian public postsecondary education institutions in the form of standard statistical tables made available in Statistics Canada publications or on client demand and research papers.

3.2 PSIS File (Extract) Structure

The PSIS data is gathered into five (5) files (extracts) providing statistical information on five (5) specific populations. These are namely:

1. Students enrolled at the institution (Student Extract);
2. Programs offered by the institution (Program Extract);
3. Enrolments within programs (Program Enrolment Extract);
4. Enrolments within courses (Course Enrolment Extract); and
5. Graduates (Graduate Extract).

Historically, Statistics Canada had only provided information on the number of enrolments within the program (Program Enrolment) and graduates (Graduate). The three (3) additional files (extracts) are new types of information provided by PSIS.

Specifically, the populations covered are the following:

1. Student Extract

Provides counts on the number of students enrolled at an institution, city, region or province/territory along with their socio-demographic characteristics. Each student enrolled is counted once, independently of the number of programs in which he/she is enrolled.

Information on this population is extracted from the Student Description (SD) input file.

2. Program Extract

Provides counts on the program offered at an institution, city, region or province/territory along with their characteristics. Each program offered is counted once, independently of the number of students enrolled in each program.

Information on this population is extracted from the Institution Program (IP) and Student Program (SP) input files.

3. Program Enrolment Extract

Provides counts on the number of enrolments within each program offered at an institution, city, region or province/territory, along with the socio-demographic characteristics of the student, and the characteristics of the program(s) in which he/she is enrolled. Each student enrolled within each program is counted. If a student is enrolled in two (2) programs, then this is counted as two (2) program enrolments.

Information on this population is extracted from the Student Description (SD), Student Program (SP) and Institution Program (IP) input files.

4. Course Enrolment Extract

Provides counts on the number of enrolments within each course offered at an institution, city, region or province/territory, along with the socio-demographic characteristics of the student, and the characteristics of the course(s) in which he/she is enrolled. Each student enrolled within each course is counted. If a student is enrolled in five (5) courses, then this is counted as five (5) course enrolments.

Information on this population is extracted from the Student Description (SD), Student Course (SC) and Institution Course (IC) input files.

5. Graduate Extract

Provides counts on the number of graduates within each program offered at an institution, city, region or province/territory, along with the socio-demographic characteristics of the student, and the characteristics of the program from which he/she has graduated. Each student that has graduated from each program is counted. If a student has graduated in two (2) programs, then this is counted as two (2) graduates.

Information on this population is extracted from the Student Description (SD), Student Program (SP) and Institution Program (IP) input files.

Section 4

Geography

Data from PSIS are available for various levels of geography including Canada, the provinces and territories, regions, cities (first three (3) characters of the postal code) and postsecondary institution(s). The amount of data available for each level of geography depends on the sub-categories being examined. Statistics Canada's Standard Geographical Classification, 1996 (which includes changes implemented for Nunavut in 1999) has been used to categorize the geographic locations pertaining to students and institutions.

Section 5

Field of Study

The field of study information was coded using the new Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP). CIP was originally developed in 1980 by the U.S. Department of Education's National Centre for Education Statistics (NCES). It is a taxonomic coding scheme of educational instructional program data of all educational levels. In 1998, Statistics Canada decided to adopt CIP as its education-coding standard in an effort to enhance data comparability/exchange between the U.S. and Canada. Statistics Canada is now publishing data using the new Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP). It is also being adapted as the standard for Mexico and will be the standard among the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) countries.

Prior to the implementation of PSIS, the Postsecondary Education and Adult Learning Section of the Centre for Education Statistics (CES) used survey specific coding structures, namely the University Student Information System (USIS), the Community College Student Information System (CCSIS) and the Trade and Vocational Student Survey (TVOC). At this time, conversion tables from USIS to CIP and CIP to USIS are available. Conversion tables from CCSIS/TVOC to CIP and from CIP to CCSIS/TVOC will be finalized at a later date. More detailed information on the CIP classification system can be obtained from the Statistics Canada web site.
